Title of event
Productive city and circular city. Conversations around the urban agenda

Organization Details
Organization: Ministry of Public Works, Transport and Housing
Organization Country: Spain

Summary
Productive city and representing the collective in the circular city is a reflection on the new proximity in the post-industrial productive city, in the European context, and its impacts at the political, ecological, spatial, social and economic level. The proposal affects the relationship between this phenomenon and the strategic objectives pursued by the recently approved Spanish Urban Agenda, in February 2019.

It is based on the ten objectives that make up the decalogue of proposals contained in the Urban Agenda to achieve more sustainable, inclusive, safe and resilient cities in Spain, which are, in particular: 1. Implementation of regional and urban planning tools to make a rational use of land, keeping and protecting natural resources 2. Avoiding urban sprawl and revitalizing the existing city 3. Prevention and reduction of climate change impacts and improvement of resilience in towns and cities 4. Sustainable management of resources and promotion the circular economy 5. Fostering the proximity and sustainable mobility 6. Enhancing social cohesion and looking for equity 7. Promoting and encouraging the urban economy 8. Ensuring access to housing 9. Leading and encouraging digital innovation 10. Improving intervention instruments and governance
